

For four people

Alexis Porfiriadis

2018

For four people (2018) is an open form score for four performers. The score consists of 44 different parts which are to be read in the conventional way, from left to right. Performers are invited to make a group realization of the composition using at least 5 of the parts for each version of the piece. The number and the order of the different parts used for a version of For four people should be decided collectively prior to the performance. All decisions about how to structure and perform the piece should be made collectively (not by one individual), through a process of conversation and rehearsal. The order in which the actions are presented in this score reflects no structural preference on the part of the composer.

Each part should be performed in whole by the group. Parts are not to be repeated. The number of each part (Part 1, Part 2, etc) used in the score reflects no structural preference on the part of the composer. Numbers are used only for practical reasons (to refer to a part when working on a version). Duration of each part: from 30 seconds to 3 minutes.

Lines beside a long tone or a long noise, as well as spaces between notes, noises, melodies or glissandos are to be understood as proportional notation (meaning that the longer the line or the space is, the longer the tone or the silence should be).

- There are four lineless staves, one for each performer, indicated with the numbers 1,2,3 and 4. Between the staves of performers 2 and 3 there is a staff in which general pauses from 1 to 7 seconds are indicated. This lineless staff is indicated with the word 'SiLence' and any indicated pause from 1 to 7 seconds in this staff applies to all performers.

- Vertical arrows connecting staves 1, 2, 3 and 4 indicate how the performance continues (see example below).

- The word ATTACCA at the end of a part indicates that performers have to continue to the next part without a pause.

- For each version performers should use at least 3 different sources for noise production. At best performers should use glass, metal, wood, plastic, paper and water noises in each version of For four people. Performers should also use a variety of registers for their tones, melodies and glissandos.

Short tone

Long tone

Short noise

Long noise

Upwards fast (or slow) Glissando

Downwards fast (or slow) Glissando

Short melody

Fast repetition of the same short tone or fast sequence of (in this case) 7 different short tones

Fast repetition of the same short noise or fast sequence of (in this case) 5 different short noises

Repetition of the same short melody or different short melodies

Very loud

Loud

Quiet

Very quiet

The vertical arrow indicates that Player 1 plays her short melody immediately after the short noise played by the Player 2

The vertical arrow indicates that the second short tone played by Player 1 will be performed simultaneously with the long tone played by Player 3

Until the next indication the dynamic remains 'quiet'
